Park City Recognized for Excellence in Concrete Design

MERRILL, WISC. – The Wisconsin Ready Mixed Concrete Association recognized Park City Credit Union during its 37th Annual Concrete Design Awards held Feb. 7 at the Kalahari Resort in Wisconsin Dells. Among 19 categories, the credit union was recognized for its parking lot at the new 26,000-square-foot headquarters that opened last year.

The contractor was Lewis Construction and the concrete was supplied by County Materials Corp. La Macchia Group was the architect/general contractor for the project.

“We are so proud of our new building and grounds, and the craftsmanship that went into it,” said Park City CEO Val Mindak. “We are honored that our parking lot is being recognized. It is a testament to the architects, engineers, contractors and ready mixed producers that helped make our dreams a reality.”

In July 2018, the new credit union and headquarters building opened its doors for the first time. Although the new building itself is a marvel of design and craftsmanship, the parking lot also provides many practical and aesthetic benefits. The grand opening of this new facility coincided with the credit union’s 80th anniversary celebration. With the company’s long history in mind and with their sight set on the future, longevity was a key goal for this new site.

Ready-mix was selected on this project for its ease of maintenance, strength, low lifecycle costs, and light reflectivity. In all, 1,541 cubic yards of concrete was used to create this new parking lot. Ready-mix provided a high-quality building material and safety considerations for credit union employees and guests. In addition to the parking lot surface, ready-mix was used for sidewalks, curbs, islands, planting beds and a common area near the main entrance.

The planting beds help break up the parking lot to organize parking and traffic to the credit union's amenities, while also providing a space for lighting. Near the credit union's entrance, a tall planting bed provides additional aesthetic appeal and acts as a safety barrier in front of the credit union. The raised planting bed required careful framework to create a combination of rounded edge and 90-degree corners.
